Can I get an ICC on an ISA Yachtmaster Shorebased certificate?

No. As the shorebased courses are only attendance certificates they are not accepted. You will need to do complete an ICC direct assessment and an ICC Test Centre.

Who are the ICC Test Centres?

See the Course Providers page in the Training section on the ISA website www.sailing.ie

What will I be tested on?

See the 'Guide to The International Certificate for Operators of Pleasure Craft' for details on the following

- direct assessment for Coastal Endorsement (this is a theory test)
- direct assessment for Inland Endorsement (this is a theory test)
- direct Assessment of Boat Handling Skills

How long does it take to process?

Approximately 1 week.

How long is it valid for?

The ICC is valid for a period of 5 years from issue. It may be renewed by application to the Irish Sailing Association.

Can an Irish ICC be issued on an RYA certificate?

No. An ICC can only be issued on a national certificate of competence issued within the same country. This is laid down by the UN resolution that sets out the requirements for the ICC. Holders of RYA certificates can either undertake a direct ICC assessment or an ISA competency course.
